The AI "Punch List" Creator

Having a bird's eye view of everything you could use AI for in your business will allow you to use AI in MANY ways in your business and do MANY things within your business better and faster. Go through the exercises below to create a "punch list" of activities you do in your business that AI could help you with.

Exercise 1: Read through the section in The AI For Internet Marketers Crash Course called Ways I Use AI In My Online Business. As you're going through that section note down anything I mention that I use AI to do in my business that YOU can do in your business.

Exercise 2: Think of all of the things you do in your business. Are there things that you could use AI to create, get things done faster, and/or make them better?

Exercise 3: Go through The Big AI Tool Resources Workbook and take your notes from there and enter in all the ways you want to incorporate AI into your business below.

Exercise 4: Do some research and see how others are using AI in their business. YouTube is a great place to do that kind of research.

Search for things like...

best AI tools
how to use AI
how to use AI for XYZ (enter anything you want to know how to use AI for as your XYZ)

If you find something that fits your business note that down below.

Exercise 5: You should have all of the spaces above filled out. Now take each way that you want to use AI in your online business and use the area below to create your final "punch list".

Exercise 6: Now with your punch list in hand, start with that first activity. What AI tool do you need to help you do that activity better and faster? Get the tool, learn to use it, and start using it in your online business. Once you have mastered that activity with that tool then come back and select something else from your punch list until you have fully incorporated AI into your online business.

Before you know it, you'll be getting things done faster, getting better results with those things, and be a true AI ninja! 😉
